Judy Simonds

Judy Simonds was born in Cincinnati, Ohio in 1940. She prefers to be called "J.B." Her father was a firefighter and her mother enjoyed staying home and taking care of their family. Judy was one of three children. She has traveled all over the world with her husband. Her favorite trip was to Venezuela. J.B. had a desire as a young child to become a nurse. She pursued that career and then later found her true passion was working with children. She received her teaching degree and was an elementary school teacher for many years. She has one son, Eric. She enjoys drawing and has a collection of art that she has created.
